Budden treats of an English Lady.

The wife of the Right Hon. Host. Childers, a prominent Liberal and a member of the cladstone cabinet, died very sudden on December 1st, while visiting of Mr. Dalgetty's place. Lockesly Hall in Hauts. Early in the morning by. Childers spoke to his wife, and receiving no answer he went round the bed. She was lying on the pillow face downward, with her head between the nillow and the side of the bed, and in her pillow and the side of the bed, and in her hand was a four-name hand was a four-ounce bottle which had contained chloroform, but was then empty, or nearly so—a strong smell of chloroform prevaded the room. A small "drop" glass and a glass stopper were found under her. Mr. Childers felt near the heart, and discovering no pulsation he called his daughter and alarmed the house. A physician was at once sent for, but lite had been extinct about two hours. It had been her custom to keep in her room a small bottle containing eight or ten drops of chloro-form, from which she would take a snift. though often for months together she had no use for it, and he knew as a matter of fact that she had none in her room for the last two mouths. She dreaded sleeplessness as totally prostrating her. Mrs. Childers had brought the bottle of chloroform with her from the town as a mat-ter of precaution, as she would be away till the end of January. It was in the washstand drawer on the Monday night, washstand drawer on the Monday night, and he supposed that, being restless, she got out of bed, got the drop glass and chloreform, and the night being bitterly cold, carried them back to bed, intending there to measure the ten drops. The bottle had a glass stopper, and she probably went to sleep with the bottle in her hand, and the heat forcing the stopper out, the contents flooded the bed. The physician was of opinion that if the bottle had had a cork instead of a glass stopper, Mrs. Childers would now have been alive.

Rubber and Caprine There is scarcely a branch or human industry in which India Rubber has no: industry in which India Rubber has not in some form found its way. Although widely known and used, but few are aware of its medicual virtues and great curative properties. Practical experiment has proven that it is a natural reseavoir of electricity, containing more than any known substance or compound. Owing to this fact it has been used with success in curing Nervous complaints and Rheumatism that were invulnerable to drugs.

It has also been discovered that India Rubber possesses all the properties valuable as a specific for Pulmonary complaints and cure many forms of Consumption and Lung diseases. Combined with Capcine it is unparalleled as a Pain Reliever, whether external or internal. Nearly all the Surgeons have adopted it on account of its great healing properties.

The most effectual way of using the article is in the form of a perforsted plas-ter. The extensive use of ordinary Perforated or Porons Plasters is a testimony to its merit.

The only objection ever found with the ordinary Rubber Porous Plaster is that it acts too slowly-requiring days and continuous wear to relieve pain or to

A celebrated physician of New York, who has long made the medical properties of rubber a study, has succeeded in the control of the control making a great improvement in Porous Plasters by introducing Capcine, which overcomes all the former objections, causing the Plaster to do in a few moments or hours, that which it formerly regired days or weeks. Capcine is the most valuable ingredi ent ever used as an external remedy. I operates with astonishing vigor and re-lieve pain immediately. hts...cu-wing Promotiprishing firm in New York, took it in hand, and by bringing Capcine Plaster to the attention of phisicisians, have met with imprecedented success. The article is known as Benson's Cap-cine Plaster. The price is the same as the ordinary Porous plaster, 25 cents. Every druggist has them. SEABURA & JOHNSON, Agents, N. Y.

CAIRO. ILLINOIS.

The Trustees of the Cairo City Property desire to call public attention to the merits of their property, comprising a considerable portion of the City of Cairo, in Alexander County, in the State of Illinols, and lands immediately adja-

This city, as is well known, is situated at the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, at the head of uninterupted navigation on the Mississippi, being below obstructions by ice in the winter and low water in summer, and it us has a clear and open river communication at all times over the Mississippi and its tributaries, with all the country south, to the Guif of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean. Caire has also the same character of communication with all same character of communication with all the country north over the streams flowing by it, when those streams are not isnavi-gable by fearon of ice or low water.

Before the era of Ratiroads, Cairo had s defore the era of Raifroads, Cairo had a commanding position as a centre of commerce and navigation. This importance of position she still possesses, but has now the additional advantage of being a great railroad centre, a number of the most important railroads in the Valley of the Mississippi converging to and having their termini there. Among these, coming from the north are the great lilinois Central Railroad, which traverses the entire State of lilinois from its extreme northern and north-eastern to its southern limits, and by its connections extends into all the great northwestern extends into all the great northwestern extends into all the great northwestern grain producing States; the Cairo and Vincennes, extending from Cairo to the City of Vincennes, in the State of Indians, where its connections afford direct railroad com-munications with all Eastern cities; and the Cairo & St. Louis Railroad, affording a direct railroad communication with the City of St. Louis and all the railroads centering there. The roads coming from the South are the New Orleans, Jackson and Great Northern and the Mobile and Ohio Railroads, which give direct railroad com-munication with the cities of Mobile and New Origans, and other Southern Atlantic sea ports, and by connecting roads with all the country south of Cairo; and coming from the southwest is the Cairo, Arksn-as and Texas Railroad, which affords similar communication with Southern Missouri, Arkansas and Texas, and the principal cities of those States. This last-named road will give, also, direct connection with the Texas and Pacific Road when it is com le-Texas and Pacific Road when it is com letted, thus giving direct communication with the principal ports of the Pacific Ocean These railroads, terminating at Cairo, are now all completed and in successful operation, those in Illinois coming into the city on a bank of each of the rivers. Ohio and Mississippi, and terminating at their confluence, thus encircling the city. The Holly Springs, Brownsville and Ohio River Railroad, and the Cairo and Tennessee River Railroad, which will both terminate at Cairo, are in course of construction and will soon be completed, and other railroads both in Illinois and in States south of the Ohio river, which will also terminate at Cairo, river, which will a'so terminate at Cairo, are projected, and arrangements made to build them. The construction of these will greatly increase the relivoid communi-cations of Cairo.

Its central location in the greek Valley of the Mississippi, and the great wealth of river and railroad communication, gives to Cairo unsurpassed advantages as a commercial point, as it affords to her easy and cheap ac-cess to all the grain producing districts of the North and West, and similar access to all the agricultural produce consumers of the South, thus presenting the best location in the West for an interchange of the respect-ive northern and southern commodities and

As a manufacturing location the position of Cairo is not less important. The crude materials of every description, which constitute the elements of manufactured artistitute the elements of manufactured articles, abound on every side, from ore, coal, of superior quality, and timber of every character, more than others, being easily and cheaply accessible, and the rich agricultural region of the immediate neighborhood, as well as the more remote districts rendered tributary to it by river and rail, furnish supplies of the Lecessaries of life in such abundance as to render living exceptionally cheap. When the manufactured articles are produced, the facilities for cheap distribution by river and rail are not equalled.

Cairo has a moral, intelligent, liberal and enterprising population of about 12,000—has a superior system of public schools, which, with others conducted by private enterprise, afford unsurp seed educational advantages—is possessed of well-established churches of nearly every denomination—has public and private buildings of a superior character—has a climate, which for salubrity and healthful influences cannot be surpassed—has a well-regulated and efsurpassed—has a well-regulated and efficient municipal organization, its streets lighted with gas, and other metropolitan advantages, which make it highly desirable and in reality not to be excelled as a place of permanent residence.

Lots and land in Cairo are now offered at very low prices, affording tavorable opportunities to purchase, and the owners present the location to the public as offering unrivaled advantages for the successful establishment of commercial or manufacturing enterprises, and the best locality in the country for profitable investment of capital.
